

THIEF GIVES BACK GEMS STOLEN FROM MRS. RIEHL IN CAB

She Comes from Philadelphia, Identifies Charles B. Castleman as the Man and He Admits Robbing Her While Driving in Central Park.

Man Who Lured the Woman Here on Pretext of Getting Her a Theatrical Position, Pleads with Her Not to Prosecute Him.

Charles B. Castleman, the young man who posed as a theatrical agent, and after luring Mrs. Albert M. Riehl, a wealthy Philadelphia woman, into a cab in Central Park, robbed her of all her jewelry, took Mr. and Mrs. Riehl and two detectives to his room in the boarding-house at No. 312 West Twenty-fifth street, late this afternoon and restored all of his plunder that was left to the Riehls, surrendering pawn tickets for what he had already disposed of.

Castleman had been positively identified by Mrs. Riehl as the man, who, under the name of Charles D. Hullis, got her to come to New York on a promise to introduce her to Henry W. Savage and get her a place on the stage, and then robbed her. Earlier in the day he had been identified by the cabman, who took him and Mrs. Riehl for a drive last midnight night. When he was confronted with Mrs. Riehl in the Yorkville prison he broke down completely, and, falling on his knees before her, implored forgiveness.

CALLS HIM A SCOUNDREL.

"How dare you speak to me, you scoundrel," was all the answer he got from the indignant woman, but Mrs. Riehl told him the only way he could expiate any misery was by restoring the jewelry he had stolen.

"I'll do it," said Castleman, "whether you let up on me or not. I have a wife and child and this will kill them, and my only chance is to make good. The jewelry is in my room at No. 312 West Twenty-fifth street."

Reminding him that Castleman to his boarding-house was secured from Magistrate Flahammer, and Detectives Clarke and Tompkins, accompanied by the Riehls started away with him. All the way to the Twenty-fifth street house, Castleman kept imploring forgiveness, but Mrs. Riehl would not listen to him. When the five reached the house, Castleman took them to a room in the rear of the second floor. Ripping up a corner of the carpet he produced three pawn tickets, one for a diamond ring, pledged for $65, one for a ring pledged for $80 and one for two brooches and a ring pledged for $400.

GAVE UP WEDDING RING.

"How about my watch and wedding ring?" demanded Mrs. Riehl. For answer Castleman walked to a closet, took down a leather bag and produced the missing articles. The Riehls then left, promising to be in the Yorkville prison.

U. S. CONSUL IS NOW FINED IN ENGLAND

DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—Arthur Donn Platt, American vice-consul here, was to-day fined ten shillings for furious driving on a motor bicycle.

This case is similar to that of Hugh Gurney, Third Secretary of the British Legation at Washington, who was recently fined in a Massachusetts court, and for which an apology was made.

SIXTH RACE—Pronta (15 to 1) 1, Gravina (2 to 1), 2, Little Em 3.

(Special to The Evening World.) The stewards woke up at Gravesend this afternoon. The Evening World has time and again called attention to the in-and-out running of horses at Gravesend and other tracks. But they never improved. Yesterday that Tossan ran a most improved race and was heavily backed in the opening event. They turned the horse over to a veterinary and on the strength of the latter's report all the entries of S. A. Pumphrey have been refused and his case referred to the Jockey Club.

Good Thing Detected.
Mr. Briller was heavily plunged on in the opening event, being backed from 2 to 1 to 7 to 1. Handarra and Ascension were the best played of the others. They went away in perfect order, but Ascension, Handarra at once raced to the front and set a pace followed by Tossan, who was four lengths in front of a bunch headed by Jerry C. In the second race, a crowd came away, winning in a gallop by five lengths from Jerry C., who was three lengths in front of Confession.

Favorite Wins All the Way.
Escutcheon was a warm favorite in the second race, and he won like a 1 to 2 chance. Escutcheon beat the gate and second place. Atwood, a 100 to 1 chance, rushed to the front and cut out the pace followed by Dick Bernard and Seymour. In the third race, Jerry C. and Escutcheon were the best played of the others. They went away in perfect order, but Ascension, Handarra at once raced to the front and set a pace followed by Tossan, who was
four lengths in front of a bunch headed
by Jerry C. In the second race, a
gallop by five lengths from Jerry C., who was three lengths in front of Confession.

More Won at the Start.
The third race was spoiled by a very bad start. Martinmas and Wotan getting the best of it. This advantage gave Martinmas the race, for he never looked back and won easily by three lengths from Wotan, who was second all the way, beating Little Em back for no place. The crowd hissed the start for some moments.

Dick Bernard Wins Cleverly.
Dick Bernard, favorite for the Seabreeze stakes, was heavily backed from 1 to 1 to 5 to 1. The Southerner was the second choice. Atwood, a 100 to 1 chance, rushed to the front and cut out
the pace followed by Dick Bernard and
Seymour. In the third race, Jerry C.
and Escutcheon were the best played of
the others. They went away in perfect
order, but Ascension, Handarra at once raced to the front and set a pace followed by Tossan, who was
four lengths in front of a bunch headed
by Jerry C. In the second race, a
gallop by five lengths from Jerry C., who was three lengths in front of Confession.

Foily Dances a 50 to 1 Shot, made the running to the stretch, followed by Coy Maid and Bravery. In the run home Coy Maid was in the front and won driving by three-quarters of a length from Sumatra, who closed strong and beat Bravery a length and a half for the place.

15 to 1 Shot Wins.
Pronta, a 15 to 1 shot, raced to the front at the start, made all the running and won easily by a length and a half from Gravina, who beat Little Em a length for the place.

HARRY WILLIAMS DEAD.

Pittsburgh Theatrical Manager Succumbs to Paralysis.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 30.—H. W.
Walker, better known as Harry W.
Williams, who for many years owner of the Academy of Music, and up until last year also owner and manager of the Duquesne Theatre, in this city, died at his home in Allegheny to-day, after a long illness. Mr. Williams was sixty-three years old, and one of the oldest and best known theatrical men in the country.

His death was caused by paralysis.

FIREMEN SUBDUED BLAZE AFTER AN 18-HOUR FIGHT

Dangerous Packing-House Fire Overcome More than Thirty Members of the Depart- ment, Including Chief Croker, Whose Life Was Saved by His Brave Subordinates.

CHIEF SHEA BADLY INJURED AND MAY LOSE HIS EYESIGHT.

Blaze in Cudahy Packing Plant that Has Raged for Hours Followed by Explosion that Endangered Lives of All in Neigh- borhood.

Not until a deluge of water had drenched the burning ruins of the great Cudahy packing plant, Nos. 454-456 West Fourteenth street, for eighteen hours were the flames finally subdued this afternoon. Even then, when the blaze seemed under check, Fire Chief Croker, who had been on continuous duty since before last midnight, ordered Deputy Chief Graen to see that streams played upon the smoking embers until noon to-morrow. He left the scene completely exhausted, but confident that his deputy had complete command of the situation.

Three hundred men have been battling with the fire since 10:30 o'clock last night.

Fire Chief Croker narrowly escaped death in an explosion of ammonia. He owes his life to the heroism of two of his men, who plunged through the flames to save him.

Chief Shea, of the Seventh Battalion, was overcome and blinded in a rush of ammonia fumes from a burning refrigerator. He may lose his sight.

The entire neighborhood is filled with the poisonous vapor of the acid and firemen are overcome at narrow intervals.

Ambulance surgeons have been established permanently on the scene to care for the exhausted and overcome fire-fighters.

Four hundred tons of soft coal and several carloads of lard are burning under a mass of crumbled ruins.

Four battalions of firemen, three fireboats and scores of employees of the Cudahy plant are barely able to keep the flames from licking up adjoining buildings.

Enormous crowds have collected about the fire lines and reserves

STORIES OF TWO DEFEATS FOR THE GIANTS AND A VICTORY FOR SUPERBAS

HEAT RECORD WAS BROKEN IN MOBILE.

ALBERTSON MUST NOW STAND TRIAL

Inspector, with Police Captain For Two Hours Max Bowen, Who Had Escaped from Ward's Island, Defies Six Patrolmen While Barricaded in His Home.

As a consequence of the raiding of the Probable pool-room at Third avenue and One Hundred and Seventy-seventh street by Commissioner McAdoo's detectives under the heads of Inspector Charles L. Albertson and Capt. James H. Ferris, in whose district the alleged gambling place was located, these officers will be placed on trial for neglect of duty.

They will also have to face the additional charge of "conduct unbecoming to an officer and gentleman," because of the wording of their report to the Commissioner.

Six policemen of the Fifth street station to-day beset for two hours and finally captured Max Bowen, seventy years old, who had escaped from the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane, on Ward's Island. He had taken refuge at his home in the rear tenement at No. 173 Second avenue.

Bowen was armed with a revolver and a large knife when he reached the home. He threatened to kill his wife, son and daughter, causing them to seek the police. Then he held off the officers with these weapons.

The man's arrest was at last brought about by luring him outside the tenement, and the six policemen surrounded and pounced on him before he could use his weapons. He was taken to the station and later to Bellevue.

Bowen escaped from the Manhattan State Hospital four days ago, and the police had sent out a general alarm for him. No report of his whereabouts had been received until early this forenoon, when his wife and two children, Lena, eighteen years old, and May twenty went to the Fifth street station and told the story.

The aged man had returned home and was violently insane and threatened to kill them all. The sergeant sent over Detective Burke, John J. Johnson, George Smith and Gilliam all in plain clothes. Mrs. Bowen told them that Max had the door of the rear tenement locked and refusing to let any one enter, the firemen were very anxious to get their approach.

Disappearance of Little Daughter Hinders Reconciliation Between Parents.

Somewhere between Thirteenth street and Second avenue and No. 141 Stanton street eight-year-old Ada Revexby disappeared on July 2. According to her parents and relatives no sign of the girl has been seen since, although diligent search has been made, and now the police have been asked to look for her.
Solomon Revexby, the girl's father, who was two days before Little Ada disappeared. On the night of the disappearance he suffered a cool passion, and a day bound for England, returning three weeks ago. The mother, who had taken the child with him, out upon her return and said she never seen her on the day he left.

On July 3 Mrs. Revexby sent Ada to the Stanton street address to look for her father. He was not there, and she returned back home. The police, however, and Children's Society records show no trace of her Revexby has become reconciled to his wife and is aiding in the search for the child.

On a variable Christmas card sent to a friend in New York, the card was found with a note from the sender to the receiver.
